Virginia's Scrap Can Lick the Jap!

Committee Is Named, Ration Farm Machin'ry

A committee of the County War Board has been set up to handle rationing of farm machinery. The committee consists of: W. T. Nash, F. A. O'Brien and John E. Burnett, with Elon Johnson and C. C. Harvey as alternates. The committee has issued the following explanatory statement:

1 "The order outlines conditions under which farm machinery and equipment may be purchased, and sets up procedure and organization for rationing the available supply among farmers.

"In commenting on the program for rationing farm machinery and equipment, Secretary Wickard said, 'Our military requirements have made it necessary to reduce drastically the amount of steel and other metals which can be used for even the most essential civilian requirements. About 75 per cent of our present steel production is now going for direct war uses . . . to make guns, planes, tanks and ships for our fighting forces to win the war on widely scattered battlefronts. The amount of materials which will be made available for manufacture of farm machinery and equipment in 1943 will provide much less machinery and equipment than will be needed. The temporary rationing system provided in the regulations issued is designed primarily to control the distribution of the limited supply of farm machinery and equipment on hand to assure its greatest possible contribution toward meeting the goals in our Food-for-Freedom program. We must concentrate our efforts on producing foods that will help most to win the war, and distribute machinery through a fair system will help farmers, our own nation, and the whole cause of the United Nations, by making the limited supply of machinery meet the most critical needs in our wartime farm production program.'

"The temporary rationing plan classifies farm machinery and equipment in three groups:

"Items in the first group, (group A), include farm machines vitally essential to current agricultural needs and which may not be sold by a dealer unless the farmer has obtained a purchase certificate from his county rationing committee.

"The types of machinery in this group for which a farmer must have a purchase certificate include: beet lifters, beet loaders, combines; corn pickers; disc harrows; feed grinders, fertilizer spreaders, grain drills; grain elevators, hay balers, lime spreaders; manure spreaders, milk coolers, milking machines, pickup balers; potato diggers, shredders and tractors (including garden tractors).

"Each farmer desiring to purchase machinery or equipment in Group A will file an application with his county rationing committee. The committee will consider each application and approve or disapprove it. If the application is approved, a purchase certificate will be issued to the applicant authorizing him to purchase the equipment. The equipment may be purchased from the dealer named in the application or from any other dealer.

"In general, the farmer will be required to show that his present equipment is not adequate to handle his production, that he cannot meet his equipment needs by repairing existing equipment, by purchasing or renting used equipment, by custom work or other means. He must also show that failure to approve his application will result in a substancial reduction in production of commodities essential in the war effort, and that the machinery will give better than average service for similar equipment in the community.

Items in the second group (group B), include most other farm machinery and equipment not in the first group, and which may be sold upon certification by the farmer to his dealer that the equipment is essential for current agricultural production needs.

Items in the third group include such items as some hand tools and the smaller farm-owned equipment, which may be sold without restriction.

"The temporary rationing plan does not apply to repair parts, and excludes such items as automobiles, trucks, tractlaying tractors, or equipment ordered by Governmental agencies.

"Each dealer will file with the State Board on or before November 10, 1942, a list of all new farm machinery and equipment which he had in his possession at the close of business on October 31, 1942.

"Each dealer shall, upon delivery of the new farm machinery and equipment called for in a purchase certificate accepted by him, sign the original and copy thereof and mail such copy to the county rationing committee.

"Each dealer shall maintain a file containing the originals of all purchase certificates which have been accepted by him from applicants. However, on or before November 10 1942 each dealer shall transmit to the issuing county rationing committee the originals and copies of all purchase certificates accepted by him with respect to which delivery of the new farm machinery and equipment desired thereon had not been completed before November 1, 1942.

"Each dealer shall keep all certificates accepted by him until called for by the county rationing committee.

"Each dealer shall make such reports and furnish such information as may be required from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture or other persons or agencies designated herein to assist in the administering of the regulations.

"For further information it is suggested that farmers get in touch with the county agent or nearest implement dealer."

VOLUME 50 NUMBER 40 APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA THURSDAY OCTOBER 1, 1942 ESTABLISHED 1892

Blackout Called Between Oct. 5th and 12th

The following notice has been issued by the local defense council:

"We have received notice from the State Office of Civilian Defense that the whole State of Virginia will undergo an unannounced test blackout, simulating an air raid, some night between Monday, October 5 and Monday, October 12.

"Local authorities will not have any information as to just when this blackout will be. Warning will be received from the Lynchburg Station and our local siren will give the usual 2-minute alternating signal for blackouts. This is distinctly different from the fire alarm signal.

"It behooves all of us, therefore, to be ready when the call comes and the siren sounds. It is very important, in case you leave your home any time between October 5 and October 12, that you do not leave any lights on, of any description. This applies to business houses as well as dwellings. Otherwise, you might not be at home or in your place of business when the warning is given, and then you would be in violation, if you had lights burning.

"This blackout will be a complete one, and will last nine minutes, or one and one-half hours.

"All civilian defense workers will be at their posts, directing and aiding in the blackout.

"Up to now we have three blackouts effective in Appomattox. The first two were very successful. The last one was not thoroughly carried out. We believe the main reason for this was lack of understanding of what was expected. It was a combination dim-out and-blackout. We know, of course, that there were no intentional violations of the rules governing these tests.

"In either a dim-out or a blackout, no lights should be seen from the streets. In a blackout, all people must be in their homes, or at least off the streets, except those assisting in the blackout. The only difference between a dim-out and a blackout, is that people may be on the streets during a dim-out, and traffic may continue as usual, with hooded lights. However, during a blackout, all citizens are supposed to be off the streets and all traffic stopped.

"In the event that you attempt, to us, blackout shades or curtains, be sure to test them out a night or two beforehand, to be certain that no light shines through or by your shades. Ordinary window shades do not blackout. No light, regardless of its color, should be visible from the outside. Flashlights, lighted cigars or cigarettes or matches are prohibited. Civilian defense officers on duty during the blackout must guard against striking matches or smoking. In he past, the auxiliary police have called the people's attention to any violation of the rules, explaining the relation to them and asking that they not be repeated. In the future, the police will give no further warnings and no explanations to any of us. It is felt by the State authorities that all of us have had sufficient explanation and instructions regarding the regulations, and we should govern ourselves accordingly. We are instructed to say further that if anyone is found in violation of any of the regulations governing dim-outs or black-outs, that person will automatically and promptly be summoned to the mayor's court of the town of Appomattox.

"By order of the local defense council, Appomattox County, Va.- C. S. McDearmon, mayor, Appomattox, Va.; George F. Abbitt Jr., director of Defense, Appomattox Co., Va.; J. W. Cawthorn, town sergeant, Appomattox, Va.; D.A. Conner, head of Auxiliary Police, Appomattox, Va.; J. A. Burke, local Coordinator, Appomattox County, Va."

New Zealand's population about equals that of Detroit. Half of the males between the ages of 16 and 60 are in the fighting forces, which number 250,000 men, fully trained and equipped.

In five of the years between 1930 and 1940 the per capita per week consumption of meat in the U. S. was less than 2 1-2 pounds, a fact that should not make rationing of meat at that level a great hardship. Belgians get 4 ounces.

News about Appomattox Men In The Service

At Guadacanal!

August 20, 1942

Dearest Father and Mother,

For the first time, I've allowed to say where I am, but you might know anyway by the papers. I'm in the Solomon islands, on a small island by the name of Guadacanal.

We are having a very good time here, eating coconuts and other jungle fruit. It's warm here all the time being near the equator. I'm in good health and have a nice sun tan.

I hope we will come back to the States very soon.

Write and let me know how things are back there, and give my love to all. I will write again soon.

Loving son,

David.

Pvt. D. T. Robertson.

Here's a letter from Pvt. Warren Barlow to his mother, Mrs. K. V. Barlow, Appomattox, Va.:

Dear Mother,

I received your letter today. Was glad to hear from you. I will have to answer today. This will be the last time I can write you from here. I can't tell you where we are going or when we are going. I will write to you when I get there. We won't be here long, I know that. They told us we couldn't write, while we were on the train or what ever else we might ride. It sounds right bad, but I will have to take things as they come. I think they will start opening our mail now too, so don't say anything about the war in any of your letters.

Lots of love to all. From a soldier to his Mother.

Warren.

Farm Loans Available

Farmers of Appomattox County who have the necessary qualifications and want to be considered for loans with which to buy family-type farms of their own under the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Tenant Purchase program should apply immediately to the Farm Security Administration office at Amherst, Va., or see their county agent in Appomattox, it was announced today by D. Mosby Harris, chairman of FSA's County Farm Committee.

Under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, a limited number of loans can be made in designated counties each year to farm tenants, sharecroppers or farm laborers who are American citizens, to enable them to obtain lifetime security on farms of sufficient size to adequately support their families. The loans are repayable within 40 years, at three per cent interest.

Loans also will be considered, the chairman explained, to enable bona fide farm owners with insufficient land to enlarge their acreage into economic family-type units. To qualify, the owner must have personally operated his farm at least one year and must intend to operate his enlarged unit on a full-time basis. Farmers who are interested in this type of loan can obtain the details from T. DeWitt Evans, County FSA Supervisor.

Times-Virginian,

I am just in receipt of a letter from my brother, W. D. Porter, of Newburg, Md. He tells me that his daughter, Mary Elizabeth, has gone to Orange, Texas, where on Saturday or Sunday she will christen the new U. S. Destroyer, "Porter," which is named after our grandfather, who was a Commodore during and after the Civil War.

We also have a letter from Grover, saying he is aboard the U. S. S. Edwards. He sends regards to all of his Appomattox friends and says the Navy is swell.

Yours truly,

M. P. Porter.

It was announced today that the office of the Appomattox War Price and Ration Board would be closed on Friday of this week, to enable the personnel to attend a meeting called by the Office of Price Administration at the State Teachers College in Farmville.

The board also announces that the IPA has frozen the sale of six types of men's heavy rubber boots and men's rubber shoes. After October 5th the board will consider applications for permits to purchase same.

The board announces the appointment of Miss B ulah Ferrell as a clerk, as of October 1.

Circuit Court In Session

The October term of the Circuit Court convened here at 10 o'clock this morning, with Judge Joel W. Flood presiding. The court room was well filled with citizens of the county, many of whom had been called for possible jury service.

The grand jury went in session, gave consideration to probable indictments. It was understood that there might be up to eight indictments, providing a docket which may require two or three days for hearing.

In comparison with recent years the legal business in many counties has sharply declined this year. However the October court docket here will likely be an average one.

Byrd Endorses State Debt Payment

Senator Harry Flood issued the following statement to the press on Monday:

To those of us who have been fighting throughout the years to keep Virginia free of new debt, the action of Governor Darden in calling a special session of the General Assembly, in order to pay the State debt from existing funds, is most gratifying. The day the old State debt is finally paid will be a happy one for all Virginians.

The time to pay a debt is when you have the money to do it. Virginia now has sufficient funds, on which little if any interest can currently be earned, to discharge her total State indebtedness.

Governor Darden will recommend the payment of the State debt, most of which was created over 100 years ago, when Virginia embarked on ambitious projects such as the construction of railroads, canals and turnpikes, with State funds.

In the period of Virginia's impoverishment after the War Between the States, this debt created such problems as to divide the State into opposing camps, some desiring to repudiate the debt and others to pay it.

To the credit of Virginia, be it said that we did not follow the example of other impoverished states and are now arranging to pay the last dollar of this debt. During the long existence of this debt we have paid in interest many times more than the original principal.

In the difficult days that will confront our country in the post-war period, when severe readjustments of our economic life undoubtedly will create business recessions or fo that Virginia will then be free of debt, or will have impounded funds safely invested adequate to pay the debt as it falls due, will place in in an advantageous position to face these difficult problems which inevitably will be an aftermath of the present war.

Virginia has already seen in many ways the fruits of her comparative freedom of indebtedness. Today Virginia has the second lowest tax rate on land and tangible personal property, in proportion to value, of all the States in the union.

The legislators are to be commended for agreeing to assemble without receiving their full pay and will deserve the appreciation of Virginians in adopting this program of debt payment.

This action on the part of Governor Darden will, I believe, meet with the unanimous approval of the people of Virginia, and it is but another instance of the notable service he is rendering the State of Virginia.

Scrap Metal Needed Badly By Industry

With less than 100,000 pounds reported, the Scrap Metal campaign has entered its final stage, with efforts being redoubled to have every possible pound of iron and other scrap metal made available for the war industry of the nation.

At Pamplin, high school students are taking an active part in the drive and expect to round up more than six tons.

The Senior Civics class at the Appomattox high school is also rounding up considerable poundage.

Here's an appeal from the County Salvage Committee:

"Right now things are going pretty well for these 'bums', Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito, and they're depending on the so-called 'frailties' of the democratic system to keep things going their way toward victory.

"For eight years, Hitler and Mussolini took everything from church bells to invalid chairs to feed the cauldrons of their war industries. Hirohito took everything he could get his hands on and also bought sewing machines and victrola needles to complete his 11-year program.

"They know the democratic way is to ASK people to give their scrap metal instead of taking it. And they're depending on the failure of this system to hand them a 6-months victory without firing a shot or losing a man.

"If 15 of our steel furnaces are forced to close down by these first of the year for lack of scrap metal, our armament program will be delayed at least 6 months and this will be a handsome victory for the Axis! You can hand them this victory.....by not getting in the scrap.

"Those of you who have not returned your cards, please let us have them.

"They're depending on YOU, who are holding your scrap iron not to let them down! What are you going to do about it?"

The Salvage Committee is composed of: C. T. Moore, C. C. Poe, Gilbert James, Mrs. B. G. Anderson and R. B. Hudgins.
